It's Black History Month!

Learn about legendary Bass Reeves, the most successful nineteenth-century American lawman, who arrested more outlaws than any other deputy during his thirty-two-year career.

Witness the performance that made Halle Berry the first African-American to win the Best Actress Academy Award.

Read about Dorothy Vaughan, Mary Jackson, Katherine Johnson, and Christine Darden, whose work in a group of dedicated female mathematicians known as "human computers" forever changed the face of NASA and the country.

Kevin Hart highlights the fascinating contributions of Black history's unsung heroes in this entertaining and educational comedy special.
